What is your favourite theorem, and why?

N.B. This coursework is unassessed, and designed mainly to give you some pre-exam practice at writing English prose. Maths undergraduates (especially those on BSc courses who do not do written projects) are rarely tested on their ability to write coherently and concisely. This course tests that, but you don't see any feedback on your exam script. Hence, an unassessed coursework.

The format of this coursework is quite distinct from the format of the exam, which will echo the format of previous exams: see the course webpage.
